for men, women, boys and girls

4-H jackets are a pleasure to wear because they're sharp looking, comfortable and make a 4-H'er really feel that he belongs. They give parents and the public a sense of pride in the club and county 4-H work. Often it's the only time they see the product of 4-H—an attractive 4-H'er in a green and white jacket doing worthwhile things. They're impressed at the sight of a group of 4-H'ers cleaning up a road-side, doing other community service, marching in a parade or band, giving demonstrations, judging, giving a talk or having fun.

These jackets are not only a bargain in public relations, they are a good buy for the money. They are low priced for an emblemized jacket. Because of this and their quality they make an ideal award or gift that lasts for years.

THE NATIONAL 4-H SERVICE COMMITTEE

Organized by public-spirited citizens in 1921, the Committee is a non-profit educational corporation working with the Cooperative Extension Service to advance 4-H. The National 4-H Supply Service is but one of the services provided by the National 4-H Service Committee.

To strengthen and promote the growth of the 4-H program, the Committee obtains private funds for 4-H from business corporations, foundations, civic groups and individuals. Through its work with these donors, incentives, awards and educational literature are made available to 4-H members.

Professional guidance is offered by the Committee to volunteer leaders and it develops new program areas in cooperation with the Extension Service.

To provide increased challenges to 4-H members, the Committee arranges the national judging of 4-H records and the distribution of awards. The Committee also organizes the annual National 4-H Club Congress as a high point in 4-H achievement.

As a service to volunteer adult and junior leaders, the Committee publishes "The National 4-H News," a monthly magazine offering stimulating program ideas, leadership guidance and a forum through which leaders can exchange suggestions on club work.

To enhance the public's knowledge of 4-H, the Committee provides year-round coverage of 4-H activities to the various news media, supplementing the information efforts of State and Federal Extension Services.

To further promote 4-H, the Committee encourages the public display of the 4-H emblem by operating the Supply Service as a central source of 4-H items.

So that all of these services will be properly tailored to 4-H needs, the Committee works in conjunction with the Cooperative Extension Service. All activities are conducted under the approval of the Extension Subcommittee on 4-H Youth, an arm of the Extension Committee on Organization and Policy in the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges.

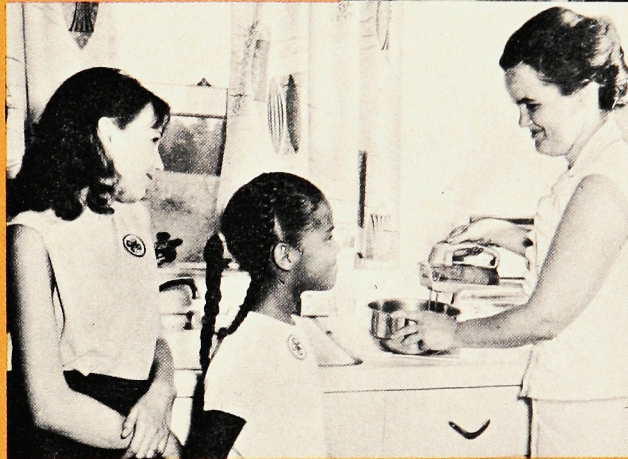

Learning by doing is stressed in 4-H. The process starts with the training of volunteer adult 4-H leaders, through the cooperative efforts of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the Land Grant universities and the County Extension Service.

Businessman, left, symbolizes the support business and industry give 4-H on the national, state and county levels through awards, money, literature, trips and scholarships.

4-H in ACTION; LEARNING for LIVING

4-H leaders use their Extension training to teach 4-H'ers in a wide variety of subjects of their choice.

4-H'ers apply their project training and learn to make decisions in real-life situations - training of value for all of their lives.

4-H emphasizes high ideals and service to others. Here 4-H'ers organize help to collect furniture and clothing for Chicago tornado victims.
